WEALTHY WOMAN WHO ESCAPES DROWNING.

Mrs. Henry Clews (at top) and Mrs. Clarence Dolan. Mrs. Dolan is the heroine of the cottage colony at Newport, following her thrilling rescue of Mrs. Clews at Bailey's Beach recently. Mrs. Clews, who is the wife of the well known New York banker, while in bathing ventured too far from the shore, and was unable to make any headway against the buffeting waves. Her cries were heard by Mrs. Dolan and she immediately went to the rescue. She reached Mrs. Clews as the latter's strength was almost gone. It was a tiring struggle, but Mrs. Dolan finally succeeded in bringing Mrs. Clews ashore. Both were exhausted when they reached the beach.

KELLY WOMEN GIVE BIG CHURCH SUPPER.

Raise Funds for Improving Proposed Edifice—Sheep Dipping to Begin at Magdalena—Personal News.

Magdalena, N. M., July 20.—The women of the Methodist church of Kelly gave a supper to raise money for the inside furnishings of their new church, which is to be built within the next few weeks. Those in charge say that the receipts will run over $150. This will make about $225 for the inside furnishings of the new building.

Mrs. M. E. Exter was called to El Paso to attend her sister-in-law, Mrs. Will Exter, who is reported very low. The Exters are in the Kellys' car, and a dance in the church.

Magdalena has five new cases of scarlet fever. One of the old cases has been dismissed, leaving a total of only six, five of which are in one family.

The Socialists of Kelly have organized and have an enrollment of 50 members. Wool continues to change hands but rather slowly. Most of the owners think that the market will be better a little later. Several of them are holding for 15 or 16 cents.

L. R. Babcock has been quite sick at his home in Kelly, but is reported as better.

C. H. Browne and several of his family are suffering from the measles. Messrs. C. C. Killinger and Joseph Eggen, sheep inspectors, stationed here, report that they expect to begin the season's dipping the early part of next week. The early season is brought on by the rains.

ENGLISHMAN KILLED IN PEARSON CAMP

W. H. Fowler Shot While Asleep—Unknown Murderer Escapes.

Chihuahua, Mex., July 20.—News has just reached here of the murder of W. H. Fowler, a young Englishman, on the night of July 15, as he lay sleeping in his tent at the Boquilla, where the Pearsons are preparing to start work on the Conchos river dam, about 17 miles above Santa Rosalia, Chih.

The assassin opened or entered the tent, placed a rifle close to Fowler's head, killing him instantly.

The murderer is unknown and no cause can be assigned.

Fowler had his tent some distance from the others working in the Pearson camp. The bullet which killed Fowler grazed the body of his Mexican servant and it was the latter who gave the alarm and aroused the camp.

Fowler was well known here, where he had lived. He was about 35 years old. He was born in Montevideo, Uruguay, where his father was at that time in the British consular service. The father is said to be now a prominent banker in Buenos Aires.

TO THE VOTERS OF EL PASO.

It seems that the opposition has charged me with almost everything except running a keno game. All of which I most emphatically deny. I am in this fight to win if I can, and have nothing to say against my opponent. Should these mischievous little rascals see fit to make any further charges against me, I trust the public will pay no attention to them.
